****Rosh Hashanah is the Jewish New Year. Rosh Hashanah literally translates to the Head of the Year. It is the first of the High Holidays, celebrated ten days before Yom Kippur. Rosh Hashanah is observed on the first two days of Tishrei, the seventh month of the Hebrew calendar.

STAFF:

Hello all,

I have three beginning-of-the-year updates. I didn't want everything to get lost in a list, so this will be the first of three school-wide updates on things related to The Blue and Gold. I'll send the other two updates next week.

First:

The editors have a small staff of seniors this year who are devoted to telling stories about life at Malden High. The seniors are Amanda Nguyen, Julio Da Silva, Roberto de Oliveira, and Katie Mai.

If you are interested in having them visit your class for a week and produce a short video documentary and written piece, please email me back with a week that would work for you.

- It needs to be period 7.
- The staff will work in teams of two, and meet with you the week before to make sure they do not disrupt what you are doing in the classroom.
- This does not have to be limited to classes--if anyone has any other projects going on, these could also be incorporated.

Why might you want to participate?

- It is a great way to build interest in your course (especially electives) and show their value in a public way.
- You can use as evidence for your evaluation--I'm sure the final product could be used for many of the standards and the work would be done by students, saving you time.
- It is a great way to publicize all the aspects of the school to help tell the story of Malden High: What is it like to be a student in Ceramics, Play Production, B/C Calculus, Auto Shop, etc.

As always, The Blue and Gold's strength remains in the fact that it is truly a student-run newspaper. If you have any questions, concerns, or corrections, however, and would prefer to send them to me, I can make sure they get to the editors. Thank you (in advance) for opening up to the staff, taking time out of your day with them, and being an important part of their learning process.

Best,
Ryan Gallagher

Also, it was suggested that we keep a log for computers that appear to be having issues in the room. You will find a list tacked to the board near the teacher's computer. If you encounter an issue, please put it on the list so that future teachers are aware when they come in. Then, please report any problems to technology.

Also, please lock the door from the inside using your bathroom key on your way out. We have had a problem with students using computers without supervision and computer mice going missing, as well as students entering the adjacent rooms. If the door is locked when you arrive, Jenelle Baldassari in H203 has the key.

Sincerely,

Kathryn Bizier
