MID-YEAR EXAM

WEEK is in the BOOKS:

Let's continue our important work in the Second Semester!!

To All Malden High School staff: MHS staff, As we finish our mid-year exams and start to look towards the second semester, which begins today, I wanted to say THANK YOU!!

The profession you chose can be exhausting, frustrating, and at times unforgiving. With all that you, somehow, still come back every day with a positive outlook and an eagerness to help your kids.

The reason for this is simple: the wins feel so much better than the losses. So...Thank you! Thank you for the support you provide for your students everyday. Thank you for your willingness to help. Thank you for your collegiality. Thank you for choosing one of the most important professions there is. Thank you for staying the course as we face so much change.

To our students, many of you have worked very hard academically in the first semester and we commend you to keep it going through the rest of the school year for a strong finish. For those who have not worked to your ability, there is still time for you turn it around and have a strong finish as well. Stay active, safe and positive!

-Mr. Mastrangelo-Interim Principal
