Another busy week full of learning and positive events at Malden H.S.

To All Malden High School Staff, Students and Administrators:

Hello all,

This past week at Malden High School was another one full of learning and a number of positive events. In Tuesday's homeroom, all of our students were provided an opportunity to take part in a survey to gauge their opinion on our school start time. Students were asked whether they were in favor of an earlier, later or the same start time (7:45 a.m.) of the school day at MHS. A committee of administrators, teachers and some students has met and discussed the issue at the request of Mayor Christenson, on behalf of the Malden School Committee. The School Start Time Committee asked that the students be polled and members will now review the results.

On Wednesday, our school administration oversaw a comprehensive, schoolwide safety drill which included a progression of protocols which concluded with a shelter in place and then a lockdown drill. These drills, which have been and will continue to be conducted on a regular basis through the end of this school year are essential in demonstrating and maintaining schoolwide safety at Malden High School. Immediately following the drill, which lasted approximately 20 minutes, a review of the drill and its results was held by myself and the four MHS house principals. We all agreed it was a satisfactory drill in that teachers and students followed the procedures we have in place in the event of an emergency right to the letter. This attention to detail contributes to the overall foundation of school safety, which is an every day priority at Malden High School and also throughout the district.

On Friday we hosted a pair of terrific events. First was the official opening of the NFL Fuel Up to Play60 nutrition program, including a visit by Pat the Patriot and his Super Bowl Ring. That was followed by our "full house" Annual Career Fair.

Holocaust Survivors will speak at MHS this Thursday, April 12 & again on May 9

Mr. Hurley writes:

On Thursday April 12 and Wednesday, May 9, Malden High School will host Holocaust Survivors George Elbaum (April 12) and Janet Applefield (May 9) to present their stories of survival under Nazi rule to our US History II and Modern World History students.

Mr. Elbaum and Ms. Applefield will be telling their stories and interacting with our students on the topics of genocide and crimes against humanity. Not only is this a critical part of the US History II and Modern World History curricula, but it is also a rare opportunity for our students to meet with someone from a generation of survivors that is all too rapidly disappearing.

Mr. Elbaum will be speaking to our US History II students on Thursday April 12 from 1:15-2:15 (periods 3 and 4). We are asking for students who are attending the presentation to be dismissed from their period 3 classes at 1:00 and to come directly to the auditorium. The presentation will end at 2:15.

Ms. Applefield will speak from 1:15-2:15pm on May 9. I will send another email about her presentation after April break.

While we wish were able to invite everyone who was interested in seeing the presentation, we are unfortunately only able to host this for US History II students next week; however, if any faculty and staff are free during that time, you are more than welcome to come listen to Mr. Elbaum speak. It is a moving experience.

This week, students are to seek permission from their period 3 and 4 teachers to attend this presentation.

Should you have any concerns or questions, please direct them to me.

Thank you all for your support,

Greg Hurley on behalf of Damian Aufiero

At 7th annual Multicultural Celebration

MS. MARQUEZ WRITES: Hello everyone,

The 7th Annual Multicultural Celebration is a month away (May 4th from 5:30pm-7:30pm), and the Multicultural Club group members would like to know if the MHS staff would participate in this celebration of our community's diverse culture by participating in the event's Best Dish Competition! All you'd have to do is prepare a dish that is representative of your culture (or one with which you tend to connect) for everyone in attendance to enjoy and vote on! In order to be considered for the 1st or 2nd place cash prize, you must be in attendance at the event!

If this sounds like something in which you'd like to participate, please contact me by this Friday, April 13.

Thank you for supporting our students and joining in the celebration of diversity!

Respectfully, Ms. Márquez and the Multicultural Club
