On National Teacher Appreciation Day, there are only two words to say to all of you at Malden High School: THANK YOU!

To All Malden High School Staff, Students and Administrators:

Hello everyone,

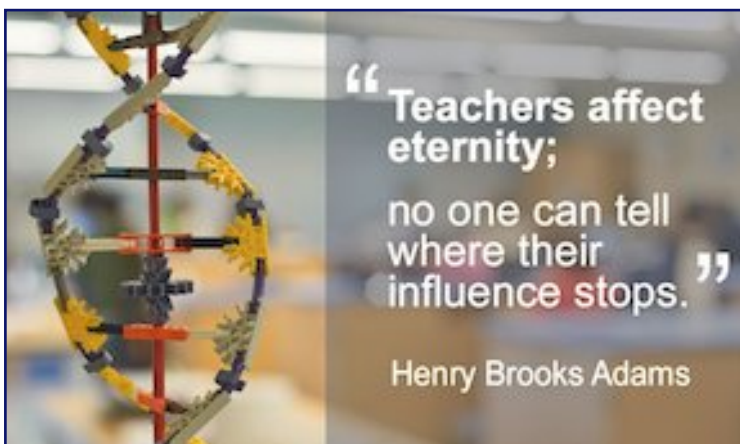

Today is a very special day in this nation, across the state and here at Malden High School. It is National Teacher Appreciation Day. It is a day to honor and cherish the work done by educators to educate our children. We also recognize teachers as individuals who have so much to give and so much knowledge to impart to our young people on a daily basis. Across our nation some 3.2 million teachers toil daily at the all-important task of education. Over 70,000 teachers are employed in Mass. public schools and over 100 caring, committed teachers are on staff here at Malden High School. To the MHS teaching staff, there are no words to express my appreciation. The combination of passion and compassion that you give to your students on a daily basis is matched by no-one. Simply put, you are incredible. As your (Interim) Principal I am blessed to have such an amazing group of educators working at MHS. As a parent, I can only hope that my children are as lucky to have educators of your caliber as they progress through their education. Please stop by the conference room outside the cafeteria on Friday, May 11 starting at 7:15 for some coffee, bagels, and muffins. Honestly, you deserve more! Enjoy your week and take a moment to ponder on the positive influence that you have been for so many of your students. THANK YOU!!

HOLOCAUST SURVIVOR JANE APPLEFIELD RETURNS TO MHS 5/9

History Team Leader Mr. Hurley writes:

Dear colleagues,

First of all thank you for your support of the History/Social Studies department as we bring survivors of genocide to our school to speak with our students. These are powerful experiences for our students and we have seen many positive results come from these visits.

Holocaust Survivor Janet Applefield will again be visiting MHS this year, on Wednesday May 9. She will be speaking from 1:15-2:15. She will be speaking to our Modern World History students, which is primarily 11th graders. As with Mr. Elbaum's presentation in April, students should be seeking your permission to miss your class to attend the presentation. The form they are bringing to you for your approval is below. They will be leaving period 6 class at 1:05 and will be in the presentation through the end of period 7 which is the end of the day. As with Mr. Elbaum's presentation we cannot invite other classes, but should you have either of those periods available, please come by and hear her story; it is inspiring.
