Now is a great time for all of us to assess the progress we have made so far this quarter in the classroom

To All Malden High School Staff, Students and Administrators:

Hello everyone,

It seems like it was yesterday when the doors opened on the first day of school back in August as I am sure many would agree. But we have over five weeks of academic work in the “the books” for this school year and Progress Reports will be delivered to students this week to let them and their parents know how they are doing so far for the First Quarter of the 2018-19 school year. The First Quarter is an essential and pivotal academic period for all of our students and educators. For our seniors, it is one of the last real measures of how they shape up with the rest of the students they are competing with during application time for admission to colleges and universities. For the juniors, a time to really get a look at where they stand academically as they, too, take a look ahead at life after high school. Our sophomores, with one year of high school under their belts, want to see how they have grown in their educational acumen as they begin year two of this tremendous journey. For freshmen, this is the first real chance to see how they are managing all they have taken in as it pertains to academics as the new adventure unfolds for them at Malden High School. It is a demanding time of the year for all of us here at MHS —educators, students, staff and administrators. But it is also an exciting one as we travel along this path we have chosen, together.

MHS English classes on Fenway Park field trip

Ms. Sarmento writes:

I just wanted to share with you some photos from the Fenway field trip. The students had an amazing time and learned a lot of new information. The tour guide was able to fit the information she gave the students to our literature curriculum. We talked about Jackie Robinson's career and how it represents social change, the history of the Red Sox owners and the loyalty of the fans, and how so many people can put aside their differences and come together for the love of the sport.

This meeting is mandatory for the people who are traveling to Spain this year. And it's not too late for new people to sign up, so come and hear what this incredible trip has to offer.

DID YOU KNOW? That the 'Father of Our Country' and our First President George Washington traveled through Malden on a number of occasions and there are some accounts he may have spent a night here in 1789... but it has been difficult to fully confirm or verify.
